A note about stormwater-

Polluted stormwater runoff is one of the greatest threats to our ponds, creeks, lakes, wells, streams, rivers, bays, groundwater, and the ocean. As stormwater travels through a watershed, it picks up pollutants and washes them into the local waterway. These pollutants come from activities such as using too much fertilizer, throwing litter down storm drains, or not cleaning up after pets.

Simple changes in our lifestyles can make a tremendous difference in the quality of our water resources.
